“For 25 years, Salisbury has been producing heirloom quality giftware for the consumer and corporate markets. We require very high quality raw materials and often work on short timelines. Our history with Oster dates back to our beginnings 25 years ago, and we have consistently found that Oster provides a superior combination of quality metals and responsiveness. Oster is the most consistent in alloying of products, so we know that we are receiving exactly what we ordered, and the surface finish of Oster’s products is excellent. Communications between us have always been interactive, and as a result, we have improved our delivery times. We are looking forward to working with Oster in the future.”
