“I’ve been in the pewter business for 50 years and have used raw materials from a lot of different suppliers. Of them all, the quality that comes out of Oster is the best. Oster’s pewter has the least amount of impurities. The surface is clean and the metal extrudes evenly and spins evenly. That makes it easy to work with. With lower quality materials, pieces can’t even be used. They often break apart as I am working them or take too long to come up to a good finish. You can’t polish something into something good when the quality isn’t there to start with. I’ve tried other suppliers over the years, and I’ve always come back to Oster. Other suppliers will never come near it.”
